CROSBY S. NOYES THE EVENING STAR has a regular and avent circulation in Washington three times larger than that of any other paper in the city. As a local NEWS paper and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

That the growth of this city is not fully appreciated by the House committee on appropriations is evident by the bill which was yesterday declared to be complete so far as the committee was concerned. In some few respects the neasure was more satisfactory than most people had expected it to be, but in a general way there was an absence of breadth of view and a great deal of penny-wise, pound-foolishness Within the past year the population of the District increased more than 13,000 and 3,000 new buildings were of are being erected at a cost of $9,000,000, and yet the House committee reports an appropriation bill which is smaller by $212,000 than the appropriation of a year ago. Such financiering may be termed economical, but it is very far from really being so. It cannot be claimed that the District revenues would not permit increased expenditures, for it evident that nearly $600,000 will needlessly and unjustly applied to satisfying the alleged indebtedness of the District to the United States "on account of the cost of the increased water-supply." Not even the stately language of an act of Congress can conceal the satire from those who know the story of the useless aqueduct tunnel. Without any reason apparent to the public the committee has made reductions at points where increases were loudly demanded. The possibilities of work on streets and avenues have been abridged by the cutting off of $120,000; the construction of suburban sewers is, in spite of great suburban growth, less by $12,500 than the current fiscal year; while the county roads and suburban streets appropriation is not within $10,000 of last session's figures. Such increases as there are have been placed where they were needed, but they are too few. Liberality in the health department is a good investment and the committee realized that personally. With the emergency fund provided there ought to be no trouble in keeping the city clean and in fortifying it against the approach of cholers. Another good feature is the appropriation of funds with which to erect a new family building at the reform school. There was urgent need of this. Two new school buildings and forty-seven additional teachers will please the public school authorities and afford educative opportunities now, unfortunately, non-existing. That the Senate will patch the weaker places in the bill is certain; it ought to. As the measure now stands it is not only unreasonably reduced below the act for the current year, but is $1,533,350 less than the estimates submitted by officers who know well the District's needs from experience gained in the practical handling of its municipal affairs.

The Pennsylvania refirend could relieve itself from some of the edium of its attitude toward the Norfolk and Western if it would declare its purpose to build a model structure across the Potomac as a substitute for the present Long bridge, on the general plan suggested by Col. Hains, throwing a series of modern spans across the river, of sufficient height, on the fewest possible piers, and with an adjacent highway for public use. If the road should commit itself to a removal of its grade crossings, to concealment of the disfigurement of its tracks crossing the mail and to the construction of a great modern bridge of the kind indicated, it could then with much better grace resist the entrance of the Norfolk and Western by way of a bridge at the Three Sisters, for it could tender to that road an entrance way into the city which would not be promptly declined without thanks as worthless. It is farcical to propose the entrance of other roads over the Long bridge dam and the present inadequate and Potomac. The people of the city as well as the newcoming railroad would resist such a proposition with all their might. The Pennsylvania road by holding back from the construction of the kind of bridge that it ought to build as a substitute for Long bridge, and by preventing the Norfolk and Western from erecting a bridge at the Three Sisters, is playing the part of dog in the manger.

People whose sources of information ought to be tolerably pure say that the Mormons who still insist on the righteousness of polygamy will speedily find homes in Mexico, leaving Utah and Southern Idaho in the possession of those saints who can manage to exist with only one wife. Mexico has practically presented to a Mormon elder a large tract of land in the state of Chihuahua conditionally on his establishing thereon a colony of three thousand persons. Industries and their products are not to be taxed in any way for ten years, nor is there to be either local or state interference. with any conduct in the community resulting from what the Mormons may term their re-Histon. If this means that polygamy is to be practiced by the migratory off-hoot then Mexico can afford to pay less attention to the rioters on the Rio Grande and more to the importations from Utah.

Any real reform that has for its object improved sanitary conditions in the homes of a city should be welcomed by intelligent people. for it is in the dwelling houses of the careless or the ignorant that typhold fever and diphtheria have their origin. Remembering this, there should be general commendation for the amended plumbing regulations which were printed exclusively in yesterday's STAR and which are now being considered by the District Commissioners, Every necessary provision seems to be made for protecting the public health even to the extent of providing for careful supervision of the work of plumbing repairs. Such regulations, conscientiously en-forced, will do much toward lowering the local death rate.

Mr. Edward Murphy, jr., of New York may not be a statesman, but, as he has long been chief engineer of the democratic machine, it is not unlikely that he will be able to run himself into the United States Senate in spite of all the obstacles that the mugwumpe may put in the Odds bodikins! Likewise zounds and several other such ancient English exclamations. Can it be that Grover Cleveland is a mugwump?

The announcement in a Paris journal that Charles A. Dana is the intimate personal friend of Cleveland is followed by a statement in the London Times that the President-elect is hunting in the Adirondacks in Mexico. It becomes constantly more evident that Europe has quite enough to do at home without bothering about 48c

American affairs. The people of this city yesterday received nother reminder of how valuable the cable-ear system is if it works when people need it. It is only fair to the Panama canal scandal to accord it the distinction of being the most variegated piece of scandal on record.

The cabinet symptoms that have broken out in the case of Mr. Carlisle are regarded by political doctors as unmistakable.

Mr. Murphy might be very valuable in the Senate in assisting Mr. Hill in thinking vigorous thoughts about Mr. Cleveland. Washington is filled with evidence tending to show that snow is a great deal more beautiful in poetry than it is in fact.

Mr. Whitney and Adlai Stevenson are aparently engaged in a very exciting long-dis-ance silence contest. Executive elemency came in just in time to geveat wife-killer Cross from being an excepSAKS & COMPANY.
